

WORLD'S MARKETS

NEW YORK, June 3.—Opening prices were mixed on the stock exchange today with changes either way pronounced in some instances. Profit-taking sales were responsible for recessions of 1 to 2 points in several favorite issues, Studebaker losing 3 points. Attempts to continue the rise in other quarters caused a drop of 3 points in General Motors and advances of a point or more in Bethlehem Steel, Central Leather and American Woolen. United States Steel opened a shade higher, but soon ran off a point with sympathetic effect on other leaders. Mexican Petroleum lost 3 points.

Prices sought generally lower levels during the morning. Speculators who made good profits on recent purchases were inclined to realize, and the public was apparently disinclined to buy as freely as heretofore, in view of uncertain money outlook and a note of warning founded by bankers as to the dangers of excessive speculation. Highly speculative issues broke badly, Mexican Petroleum, Studebaker and United States Alcohol losing 5 points or more. Standard falls were down 1 to 2 points. Toward mid-day a rapid upturn in Baldwin Locomotive and a sharp recovery in oils influenced a better tone in the list.

Violent advances among the mercantile industrial issues testified to the highly professional character of the dealings and the operation of pools. American Woolen soared 19 points. Texas and Pacific Land Trust 25 and Goodrich 9, while Mexican Petroleum rallied from 197 to 205 1/2.

CHICAGO GRAIN
